

Safety in the workplace:

Employers want to be sure the health and welfare of their employees is intact—but too often crimes or tragedies hit while at work.

It's important to remind employees/managers what to do and what to expect in an emergency situation.

Whether it's a theft, robbery or burglary, Safety Sessions can help educate on how to prepare. Another danger in the work place result from internal issues. You may have a wayward or disgruntled employee, or a domestic violence incident that has left the home and crossed the boundary of the work place.

In this session we will come to your place of business and educate your employees how to prevent crime and also what to do in case a tragedy occurs during their workday.

Safety Sessions also offers training and counsel on media relations.—if something big happens in the workplace—how will you deal with media?

Ignoring media or public attention often times is the worst thing you can do --- especially when you or your business's reputation is at risk---let us help!
